

COVID - 19 MEMO

As we continue with production after the COVID-19 pandemic, the safety of our cast, crew and contributors remains a priority. To promote the health and safety of our cast and crew we continue to assess the risks of COVID-19 during production with reference to government and industry guidance. We follow the industry standard guidelines issued by PACT.

At present, the industry approach is to learn to 'Live with COVID'. Therefore we continue to monitor the situation, making changes to our risk assessments as required, and treating it like any other health and safety risk. In order to reduce those risks identified, as far as reasonably practicable, we will implement a package of control measures when fit. We approach these measures differently across each production depending on the severity of cases in the production's region, type of activity and if working with those considered to be at a higher risk.

Any questions or concerns can be directed to the F5 Films Production Team and as with any health and safety risk, we ask that all cast and crew remain vigilant to any hazards and report them immediately to a manager or member of production.
