

Floating Princess.

My Daddy liked to give presents to everyone all the time. Once upon a time my first music teacher received a gift from my father: a pen. Inside a transparent tube, a little doll in a black bathing suit floated in a provocative pose, with her hands behind her head. When you turned the pen upside down, the beautiful pen our father had given to the teacher, mother turned pale.

I do not know if my music teacher liked this gift, but when we got home and told our mother about the beautiful pen our father had given to the teacher, mother turned pale.

Oh, mummy, it was such a lovely gift! A pen with a floating Princess!
